

mail@easenglish.net
IBT, PBT, IELTS

Originally written by : Parisa

Some people believe that a country should have the moral obligation to help the other country and some of the people think that exist the misspending of the government and the aid money can not be got by the poor. What is your opinion?

In this modern age, a lot of industrial countries develop and progress permanently and as fast as lightning. Some other countries, in spite of this fact, are un-developed and poor – dealing with numerous troubles there. For this purpose, other countries constitute some organizations to help the poor people, and supply some principle and significant requisites, and they even allocate annual budgets for the poor governments. While some people think, their country should aid other poor countries; surprisingly there are groups of people who believe that this money-aid can not be granted the poor. From where I stand, this is a controversial issue, however, I tend to take side with the first group.

First of all , the humanity and responsibility commands us to help each other ,and all of human are analogously .Also, we should not have any discrimination between the mankind ; this responsibility and commitment obligates us to think about other people and try to prepare their basic , primitive and every-day- needs, such as: foods , clothes , suitable Shelter. We know, however, in some countries some people consume resources more than adequate their needs , which can survive a lot of hungry children. For instance, in some wealthy Arabic Countries, the extravagant food supply they serve for a normal banquet is so much that it is enough for feeding one whole day in a village in a poor African country. This is not justifiable for any human being.

Although some countries ship considerable sum of money and goods for those countries, a lot of this assistances do not reach to poor – hungry people and children– because the government use it for their private aims ; hence ,some groups think that it is un-useful work to help them ,but I think if there are some committee which arrange and control it , they will ensure that the miserable people get their aides.

To conclude, I whole –heartedly believe that all human should help aide each other, heedless of their nationality, religion, color or race. Also, we should restrict some abusive people who are used to ignoring others – they tend to do anything to comfort themselves.